

The 10-Minute Halal Weekend Planner

Plan one meal, one prayer stop and one meaningful activity - without opening twenty tabs or relying on an outdated list.

FOOD	PRAYER	SOMETHING TO DO

Inside	A reusable planning method
4 mobile-friendly pages	One printable worksheet + a halal-status check

Reusable every weekend. Current information stays on the live site.

Plan the weekend in 10 minutes

Keep the decision small: one area, one main meal and one simple route.

1 Pick one area

Choose a neighbourhood or MRT area that keeps travel simple. Start with the live halal food guide.

2 Choose the main meal

Save one first choice and one backup. Check the listing's label instead of assuming every outlet in a chain has the same status.

3 Verify before you go

For certified places, confirm the current outlet on the official MUIS HalalSG search. For Muslim-owned or self-declared places, read the stated basis and decide what you are comfortable with.

4 Place prayer into the route

Check Singapore prayer times and save a nearby mosque or prayer space before leaving.

5 Add one meaningful stop

Pick one activity, class, family stop or community event. Use the live events page for current dates and details.

6 Share the plan

Send the route to everyone going. Include the meeting point, meal time, prayer stop, budget and backup so the day stays easy.

THE 10-MINUTE RULE

If the plan still feels complicated after ten minutes, remove a stop - do not add another tab.

My halal weekend plan

Keep it realistic. A good plan is one you will actually use.

Date	Area / MRT	Who is going?

1. Main meal

Place, outlet, time and the halal-status label you checked

2. Prayer stop

Prayer, estimated time, mosque or prayer space

3. One activity

Event, family activity, walk, class or useful errand

4. Backup meal

A nearby alternative in case the first choice is full or closed

☐	Current halal status checked Outlet and certificate details confirmed where applicable
☐	Opening hours checked
☐	Travel time checked
☐	Budget agreed

A quick halal-status check

A label tells you the basis for a claim. It does not remove the need to check current information.

1	Is a current MUIS certificate shown? Confirm the exact outlet, certificate details and validity using the official MUIS search.
2	If not, what is the stated basis? Muslim-owned, no pork/lard and halal-friendly are different claims. They are not the same as MUIS certification.
3	Is anything unclear? Ask the business directly or choose a currently certified alternative. Comfort levels differ; the label should help you make an informed choice.

MAKE FRIDAY THE PLANNING DAY

Use the weekly Humble Halal email to fill this sheet: pick one new find, check the live details and share the route with your family or friends.
